

The Honorable Michael K. Powell
Chairman
Federal Communications Commission
445 12th Street, S.W.
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear Chairman Powell:

I am writing to you today as a current satellite TV subscriber who would like to add my voice of support to the pending merger of EchoStar and DIRECTV .. The combination of these two satellite providers will provide numerous benefits to consumers like me, including more choices in channels, programming, broadband and new television technologies.

By merging, the combined company will be a much stronger competitor to cable television and can offer more programming choices and, most importantly, all local TV channels in every market in the U.S. By providing local TV channels everywhere, this merger will make satellite television a strong alternative to cable in our community. Throughout the country, people will now be able to turn to satellite TV to access their local news, weather and community information, in addition to a comprehensive package of national video programming. But just as exciting, the merger will bring the availability of affordable high-speed Internet service by satellite to over 40 million Americans who don't have high-speed Internet access. I have been waiting for over a year for Bellsouth to run DSL to my area. I have heard promises and estimates of waiting time, and I am tired of waiting. And I refuse to be a slave to cable TV rates ever again! The tremendous benefits to consumers won't happen in rural areas without the merger. Satellite-delivered Internet service will bring an affordable and competitive alternative to cable modems and DSL to consumers in big cities, small towns and rural areas alike. This will give me a competitive choice for Internet access and will be especially advantageous to rural communities such as mine, where DSL is not likely to be available anytime in the near future, and cable prices continue to soar out of sight!

In the interest of improving our access to competitive television and Internet service, I urge you to lend your support to this merger.

Sincerely,

Susan Verdecchia
2376 Louisville Road
Appling, GA 30802